Dear [Redacted]

We are pleased that Mr. and Mrs. Casey have accepted our invitation for the Thursday, September 25 banquet in conjunction with The Washington Times annual Advisory Board meeting.

I have sent you a list of the Advisory Board. Some of them have not been able to attend this year. So I have attached an exact list, to date, of who will be at the dinner. This includes Times staff members also. There will be no foreign nationals at the dinner.

The dinner will be held at the International Club, at 18th and K Streets, N.W. A reception begins at 7 p.m. and dinner at 7:45. Arnaud de Borchgrave, Editor-in-Chief of The Times, will meet Mr. and Mrs. Casey at the 18th Street entrance when they arrive. The reception is in the third floor Danube Room, and dinner is in an adjacent room.

Talks given by speakers in the past have ranged from 15 to 60 minutes. As was suggested, Mr. Casey's talk of about 15 minutes with as much time for questions afterwards is fine. At 8:30 p.m. Mr. de Borchgrave will introduce Mr. Casey. There will be a podium before the group with an attached microphone. A lavalier microphone will also be on hand for Mr. Casey's use.

The dinner program will end by 9:30, and Mr. de Borchgrave will escort the Caseys to their car. I am sure that Mr. de Borchgrave wishes to be seated at Mr. Casey's right at dinner, but I will have to send you an exact seating chart as soon as we have decided on the overall seating.

Thank you for your patient help with our program. Please call me as questions may arise. (202) 636-3302.

Sincerely,

Larry Witham

Executive Assistant to the Editor-in-Chief
